The NH Manin is located in an old palace owned by the Barocci family, built in 1890 for the Pellegrino Orefice, which was historically the San't Angelo theatre, one of the seven lyrical theatres of Venice. Completely restored and converted into a hotel, with an incredibly unique position, in the main zone of the city and on the banks of the Gran Canal and 10 minutes on foot from St. Mark's Square and the Rialto bridge. The hotel has a beautiful garden where breakfast is served during the summer months. The rooms all have their own Venetian style, marble bathrooms and Venetian ceramic floors. The hotel, with a private dock is located close by to all the most important monuments of the city. The hotel includes an American Bar serving cold dishes during the summer months.
