In the heart of Vigo, close to the Club Nautico and the Do Castro Park, this hotel occupies a residential building dating from the beginning of this century (Casas de Oya, 1904). Its magnificent granite façade decorated in the typical style of that period is crowned with three large architectural roses and has been restored to its original splendour. This landmark building is the perfect setting for our NH Palacio de Vigo.

Our Cuisine

A warm and selective setting is found at El Irati, a restaurant that has become the most renowned of the city.

With an exclusive location, it occupies one of the former living rooms of the ancient building known as Las Casas de Oya, which was built in 1904 by José García Barbón over Michel Pacewicz's project.

In Irati a contemporary cuisine is developed with inspiration in the regional Galician cuisine. Those responsible for its success are the Magaz brothers, renowned restaurateurs in the Vigo area.

Mention should be made of the extensive and carefully-selected wine list in which regional Galician wines stand out.
